Newsletter of the Bastrop County Audubon Society

Meeting: Tuesday, April 21, 2015, 7:00 p.m. Program: “It Ain’t Easy Being Green.” John Herron, Senior Director for Conservation and Science for the Nature Conservancy in Texas, talks about general conservation issues in the state. He will include an introduction to the Nature Conservancy, whose mission is to conserve the lands and waters on which all life depends. BCAS will host the Herrons for dinner at Cedars at 5:15p.m.

Nature Fest: Saturday, April 18, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. Fisherman’s Park in Bastrop. Sign up with Priscilla Jarvis at 512 281-2762 or at pjflamingo@flash.net for a shift working the BCAS booth. Fun meeting the public, training kids to use binoculars, educating about birds and BCAS. The fest publicity says: Climb a Rock Wall, Meet a Texas Forest Arson Investigation Dog, Walk a Nature Trail along the River, Learn Bird Identification (that’s us), Make a Bird Feeder, and Enjoy Food and Live Music.
